Brake System Complaints of the Third Generation Prius in US and Japan

Regarding complaints of the brake system received from customers of the third generation Prius in US and in Japan, Toyota Motor Corporation (TMC) announced that the condition was due to the Anti-lock Braking System (ABS) and now is under investigation. Crown Motors Ltd. (CML) will keep close communication with the manufacturer on the progress and will make immediate announcement for any updated news. Meanwhile, CML has been in contact with owners of the third generation Prius for progress update.

In Hong Kong, CML has sold more than 300 units of third generation Prius and has not received either related complaints or accident reports from customers.
